The longer you live, the more you realize that you get out of life what you put into it. If you value your work for the sake of your work, all good things will come to you. But you have to believe in your work. It has to be much more important to you than the money you make out of it. The money is just your livelihood. But your work defines who and what you are. That has to be the primary consideration. You have to believe that what you're doing is important, that it makes a difference. And if you believe it strongly enough, you'll work hard enough so that it will make a difference.

~ Robert Mondavi
